

Annagrammatica's
Little Book of
LOVE

Love makes the world go 'round, they say.
Year after year, day after day...

the land...

the sea...

the trees
and sky ...

light up with love—and I know why:

All creatures reach for happiness...

and love is where they come to rest.

The coldest corners of the earth
are warm because love got there first.

Love's not afraid of anything,
however small...

however big...

however tall...

however great...

however much it weighs...

love stays.

And love is not afraid to fly...

however fast...

however high.

Love's willing to be still awhile...

to jump into in a furry pile...

to touch and hold...

the young...

the old...

the small and shy...

the brave and bold.

Love surprises...

love astonishes...

love is wise...

love keeps its promises.

When you have to take a chance...

don't be afraid to fly...

or dance...

or change your mind...

try something new...

so much to see...

so much to do.

The world's a great big gorgeous ball...

and though we haven't seen it all...

no matter where we go, I trust...

that love is waiting there for us.

Annagrammatica's Little Book of Love
by Mary Campbell
© 2017 Mary Campbell and Annagrammatica
All rights reserved
For information, contact
mary@annagrammatica.com

Love makes the world go 'round, they say.
Year after year, day after day,
the land, the sea, the trees and sky
light up with love—and I know why:
All creatures reach for happiness,
and love is where they come to rest.
The coldest corners of the earth
are warm because love got there first.

Love's not afraid of anything.
However small, however big,
however tall, however great,
however much it weighs—love stays.
And love is not afraid to fly,
however fast, however high.
Love's willing to be still awhile,
to jump into a furry pile,
to touch and hold the young, the old,
the small and shy, the brave and bold.

Love surprises; love astonishes;
love is wise; love keeps its promises.
When you have to take a chance,
don't be afraid to fly or dance or change your mind; try something new—
so much to see, so much to do.
The world's a great big gorgeous ball,
and though we haven't seen it all,
no matter where we go, I trust
that love is waiting there for us.

For Desi (1/20) and Addy (2/3) with love

